

Creating a world-class family practice

When building their new space, Excel Health wanted to create something unlike anything else around. They needed a walk-in clinic that could stand-up to heavy use. And a high-end private clinic that would attract clients with features like lounge areas, massage rooms and even a gym. Blending these needs into a single project can be difficult. Because DIRT T manufactures everything to exact dimensions in our factory, Excel Health was able to get both spaces without the hefty markup for customization. Best of all, the project was complete in half the time it would have taken if built conventionally. This means that Excel could open their doors and start providing world-class medical care much sooner. Whether you need walk-in clinic or long-term professional care, Excel Health has created a space to accommodate your needs.
